For guidance on safeguarding adults and vulnerable adults:

A vulnerable adult is generally defined as someone over the age of 18 who, due to various factors like age, disability, illness, or mental health issues, may need extra support and protection from harm or exploitation. This vulnerability can stem from an inability to protect themselves or to make informed decisions due to reduced capacity making them more susceptible to abuse, neglect, or other forms of harm.

If you are in doubt record what you have witnessed and contact the DSL. The DSL will respond in line with advice from East Sussex Safeguarding Adults policy accessible at:

6. Safer Recruitment.

Following carefully the procedures for recruitment and selection of staff and volunteers The climbing centre is an open, safe and public place where the risk of abuse is low. References should be taken up prior to the employment of a successful candidate, and verified by a telephone call where appropriate. All successful candidates, including volunteers, who will be responsible for and alone in the centre with children and young people (instructors in sole charge of a group), must be subject to Enhanced Disclosure through checks by the Disclosure and Barring Service (DBS). No unsupervised access to children is to be allowed until references have been reviewed and results from the DBS are obtained. Advice should be sought prior to recruiting someone with a criminal record or record of other offences. New members of staff or volunteers must undergo a comprehensive induction which covers the Safeguarding Policy and Procedures.

Appendix 5

Instructor Practical Guidelines

To be read and discussed on instructor induction. Induction sheet completed to show this.

Bullying or Harassment: We expect our youth to climb in an environment that is free from any bullying, harassment or discrimination. It is important that you promote an environment where any form of bullying or harassment is unacceptable. Report and encourage youth participants to report if they are made to feel uncomfortable by actions, words or any incidents that occur.

Professional Behaviour: Whilst it is important to make a young person feel at ease, avoid being over familiar and maintain a professional instructor/client relationship at all times.

Environment: Where possible, avoid being on your own in an isolated or closed environment with a young person or make sure that others know of the situation.

Travel: If a young person will be travelling alone with an adult make sure that there is a known destination and check-in time with a third party. It is a good idea to make a mobile phone (or equivalent) available to the youth in such situations.

Physical Contact: There may be occasions when physical contact is unavoidable (e.g. when you are guiding them in carrying out a technical operation) but these should be kept to a minimum. Always explain the context and seek the consent of the student.

Disclosure: Occasionally young people may disclose confidential information at work that gives rise to serious concern for their physical or emotional safety. In such situations you must share this concern with the Safeguarding officer.

Contact: When outside of instructed sessions it is necessary for instructors to get in touch with young people this should never be done via direct messaging, only in group messages that include at least one more member of BB staff. Instructors should not have any direct contact, 1:1, on social media. Instructors should also keep social media contact to a minimum and only within the context of the professional relationship.
